

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A process for treating a liquid from a process step in a food processing plant, wherein the process comprises filtering the liquid, wherein substantially all contaminants are removed from the liquid.
2. A process for treating water from a process step in a food processing plant, wherein the process comprises chlorinating the water and then filtering the chlorinated water, wherein substantially all contaminants are removed from the water.